Grand Prix Dorhout Mees – Master of Clays tournament.

The 8th, 9th, 10th, and 11th of August it is that time of the year again: the Grand Prix Dorhout Mees – Master of Clays tournament. The fact that it can be considered the big price of the Netherlands was shown last year by the international field of competitors, with world renowned crack shots from Belgium, Germany, the United Kingdom, Italy and Denmark. Last year's tournament was won by Ben Hustwaite, who shot 192 out of 200 clays.

Grand Prix 2013

Like the previous years, competitors in five categories will compete in a lay out of 200 clays for several cash prizes, and a grand price for the Master of Clays. Frank Hasekamp, who is considered to be one of the finest builders in Europe, will build this year's track again. Next to the stationary posts a whopping 80 mobile machines will be used to create the most challenging and spectacular lay out. This will make the Grand Prix Dorhout Mees a Grand Prix like no other!

This year an additional training day is added because of the growing popularity of the tournament on Thursday the 8th of August. All those who want to, can get an early start training and get the best possible preparation for the Master of Clays Tournament.
